Not To Change The Personnel Of Cabinet

WASHINGTON, August 4.—(By Associated Press)—President Coolidge began his administration as the thirtieth chief magistrate of the United States today by designating next Friday, the funeral day of President Harding as a day of national wide mourning.

He also announced that the personnel of the federal government as passed on to him by his predecessor would remain unchanged for the present and that the credentials of the American representatives who are negotiating rapprochements between the United States and Mexico and the United States and Turkey in the name of President Harding would be renewed at once so that the work could proceed without interruption.

In his conference with newspapermen, the new President gave assurances that he would maintain also the same principles of publicity about the business of the government which were followed by Mr. Harding.

"This is your government," he said speaking through the newsmen to the people of the nation.

These, the opening scenes of a new page in American history all took place at the hotel suite at the New Willard Hotel which has been Mr. Coolidge's home as vice-president and which will remain an official White House until Mrs. Harding has taken leave of the executive mansion. Today the president's flag with its blue field and bearing a coat of arms and four white stars in its corners was placed on a standard in the reception room of the suite. At the same time four additional rooms were added to the suite for the use of white house clerks.

As soon as the funeral ceremonies are ended, the resignations of all members of the Harding cabinet will be lodged in as a matter of form. It is not expected that any of them will be accepted.

The resignations of the cabinet officers probably will be submitted at the first cabinet meeting after Mr. Harding's funeral. When this will be held is uncertain.

Secretary Denby of the navy arrived today and word was received that other absent cabinet members were enroute.

Nearly all will be here for Mr. Harding's funeral.

President Coolidge assured the newspapermen today that he would continue the practice of his predecessor in holding semi-weekly conferences with them. He added that he would be glad to give out any information and assist in the proper dissemination of news from the White House.

"This is your government," he said, "and you exercise a great and helpful influence over the administration of it. I have no doubt that you will give the administration the necessary co-operation."

Rush Work To Put White House In Shape

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Emergency preparations to put the white house in readiness for new occupants and the executive offices in shape for a new president, went forward today after they had been continued all night at the hands of a somber and sleepless staff.

The glare of lamp clusters, the ceaseless staccato of telegraph instruments and the clanking of masons' trowels constituted the background upon which the seemingly endless detail of preparations proceeded.

The stream of messages of condolence to Mrs. Harding alone overtaxed normal telegraph facilities in the executive offices. First one then two, and finally at times, three telegraph wires were set to work for their reception and weary operators soon lost count of the myriad communications.

"Then there was denarry in much of the physical structure of the white house and its attached offices, for when President Harding went west on his last journey the opportunity had been seized for a general refurbishing. New stone floors were being laid in the office reception rooms, repairs and repainting in major and minor degrees had been embarked upon. Workmen were proceeding with leisurely care."

Musolini Has Powerful Hold On The Italians

ROME, Aug. 4.—Mussolini, the man who could have overthrown the king and made himself supreme in Italy, but who chose instead the role of benevolent autocrat with parliamentary backing, is without doubt, today the most talked about, if not the most striking personality among the statesmen of Europe.

There is something Rooseveltian, something Napoleonic, indeed much of the superman in Mussolini. His hold on the Italian masses is almost that of a saint. Not long ago when the people of Sicily were praying that the eruption of Etna should cease, Mussolini arrived on the scene and the very day he reached there the volcano happened to subside, but the peasantry attributes the miracle to Mussolini. That is an example of the fantastic powers credited to his mystic genius.

The premier is the busiest man in Italy. To grant anybody an interview in these hectic days of reconstruction means to give up precious time from a thousand and one problem of the superman in Mussolini. His

President's Proclamation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—President Coolidge's proclamation designating next Friday as a day of national-wide mourning, follows:—

"BY THE PRESIDENT: A proclamation.

"To the people of the United States:

"To the inscrutable wisdom of Divine Providence, Warren G. Harding, 29th president of the United States has been taken from us. The nation has lost a wise and enlightened statesman and from the American people a true friend and counselor whose public life was inspired with the desire to promote the best interest of the United States and the welfare of its citizens. His private life was marked by gentleness and brotherly sympathy and by the charm of his personality he made friends of all who came in contact with him. It is meet that the deep grief which fills the hearts of the American people should find fitting expression.

"Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States do appoint Friday next, August 10, the day on which the body of the dead president will be laid in its last earthly resting place, as a day of mourning and prayer throughout the United States. I earnestly recommend the people to assemble on that day in their respective places of divine worship, there to bow down in submission to the places of divine worship, there to pay out of full hearts the homage and love and reverence to the memory of the great and good president whose death has so sorely smitten the nation.

"In witness I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington the fourth day of August, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-eighth.

"Calvin Coolidge.

"By the president.

"Charles E. Hughes.

"Secretary of State.

"The White House.

"Washington, August 4, 1923."

In addition to the proclamation, Secretary Hughes made public an order directing that by order of President Coolidge "all executive departments will be closed on Tuesday, August 7, at and after one o'clock P. M., and on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, August 8, 9, and 10."

Last Picture Of The President

This portrait of President Harding—the last taken of him in life—was snapped at San Francisco, just before the president entered the Palace Hotel.

Active Selling Supported By Buying On Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Active selling took place at the opening of today's stock market, the first session since the death of President Harding and prices worked considerably toward loss of 4 to 2 points to 5 1/2, the lowest price since 1896. Gulf States Steel dropped 3 1/2.

Good buying support for U. S. Steel common, which recovered its early loss and for some of the other standard shares.

The cotton market continued its early advance to fifty points or $2.50 a bale, in later trading on reports of continued dry weather in the south. Wheat, October contracts were quoted at 22.62 cents a pound and December at 22.53.

The stock market continued steady after the early selling orders had been absorbed. Trading was more quiet.

The reaction in stock prices which was not all together unexpected in view of the suddenness of President Harding's death, was an orderly one. The resistance shown by the usual leaders, 1 to 2 points below Thursday's final figures inspired confidence on the part of timid investors and speculators and the main trend was upward at the close.

Grain Market Steady

CHICAGO, August 4.—(By Associated Press)—Grain markets displayed notable steadiness today on reopening after the sudden stoppage of business caused by President Harding's death. Only small fractional changes in the price of wheat were witnessed and the volume of transaction were ordinary.

The initial tendency of values was slightly downward, the extreme decline in the first fifteen minutes being 3.8 with September wheat touching 96 7/8 and December 100 1/4.

Americans Pay Tribute As Train Speeds On

Mrs. Harding Rested Well

ON BOARD HARDING FUNERAL TRAIN, HAZEN, Nev., August 4.—Mrs. Harding rested last night as well as could be expected.

The widow of the late president retired early to her stateroom and when the train reached here about eight o'clock this morning, the door was still closed. There had been no occasion to call anyone during the night.

PASSING THROUGH NEVADA

SPARKS, Nev., August 4.—(By Associated Press)—President Harding's funeral train left here at 6 o'clock this morning.

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S FUNERAL TRAIN, ROSEVILLE, Calif., August 4.—(By Associated Press)—The sorrow over the death of the American people over the death of their leader, was exemplified today by silent groups along the railroad side, as the special train bearing the body of Warren G. Harding traversed eastern California and the wide reaches of Nevada.

"With bared heads they stood sometimes in groups of hundreds, sometimes only a score, and sometimes none too humble to pay their mark of respect to the memory of President Harding. They were conscious only showing their sorrow, but to those on the funeral train they testified the whole American people.

It was the same from early morning through the day. It had been the same since the train left San Francisco at 7:15 last evening. It of respect to the memory of President Harding. They were conscious only showing their sorrow, but to those on the funeral train they testified the whole American people.

Body To Lie In State In Capitol Wednesday

WASHINGTON, August 4.—(By the A. P.)—As the Harding funeral train moved eastward today, President Coolidge devoted his attention to plans for fitting services here and prepared to carry on with the policies of the late chief executive.

Accompanied by his wife and several close friends, Mr. Coolidge arrived in Washington last night from Plymouth, Vermont, where shortly before dawn yesterday he took the presidential oath of office in his father's modest home.

Going immediately to the hotel suite which he and Mrs. Coolidge will occupy until they begin their residence in the white house, the new president went into conference with Secretary Hughes, Postmaster-General New and Senator Curtis, the Republican whip.

Later it was announced that detailed funeral plans, sitting in with the schedule worked out by members of the Harding party before its departure last night, from San Francisco, were being perfected.

TO LIE IN STATE AT THE CAPITOL

The arrangements, subject to any change desired by Mrs. Harding, call for the removal of Mr. Harding's body, on its arrival here Tuesday afternoon, to the white house. There it will remain until Wednesday morning in the majestic east room, where a private service may be held just before the body is taken to the capitol rotunda for services at 10 o'clock. Detachments of soldiers, sailors and marines will serve as an escort from the executive mansion to the capitol.

After the services in the rotunda, the body of the dead president will lie in state and the public will be permitted to file past the catafalque until 6 p. m. Wednesday. At that hour the body will be removed to the train which, leaving at 7 p. m., will carry it to Marion, Ohio, for burial, probably Friday.

COOLIDGE TO ACCOMPANY THE FUNERAL PARTY

Mr. Coolidge expects to accompany the funeral party to Marion. Until his return to Washington he is not expected to devote much attention to matters other than those pertaining to the funeral and burial of his predecessor in office.

A mass of mail having accumulated during his absence from Washington, the new president devoted some time today to the disposal of pressing correspondence but had little of general importance on his program for the day.

NO CHANGE IN GOVERNMENT MACHINERY

Having announced he would dedicate himself to the task of carrying out Mr. Harding's administrative policies, the new president, his friends and advisers believe, will make no changes in the governmental machinery, at least for the present.

Mr. Coolidge is expected to proclaim the day of Mr. Harding's funeral one of mourning throughout the United States. Such a proclamation would result in the closing for the day of all federal government offices, which yesterday, by order of Secretary Hughes were closed out of respect to the dead president.

Flags over government buildings, at army and navy posts and elsewhere continued today to fly at half-mast. At daybreak army posts and forts throughout the country began the firing of an all day salute, beginning with 19 guns. At half hour intervals, single shots were to be fired until sundown when there will be final salute of 48 guns.

Orders also have been issued for suitable salutes by the navy.

Messages of condolence to Mrs. Harding continue to pour into the white house where three telegraph operators are kept busy receiving them.

GETTING EXECUTIVE MANSION IN SHAPE

With the return of Mrs. Harding only three days off, feverish efforts are being made to put the executive mansion, which has been undergoing renovation, in readiness. Workmen toiled throughout the night in the adjoining offices to rush to completion extensive repairs which were begun after Mr. Harding left Washington on his Alaskan trip.

For the present Mr. Coolidge has indicated he will not make use of the executive offices, but will transact official business in an office set aside for him in his hotel and in the vice-president's suite at the capitol.

As for occupying the white house as a residence, both Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge have expressed themselves as preferring to remain at the hotel suite which has been their home here since March 1921, until Mrs. Harding finds it convenient for them to take over the executive mansion. They have notified her of this desire.

Brief Services Held In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—(By the A. P.)—San Francisco today interred the memory of President Warren G. Harding in its vault of treasured thoughts while slowly recovering from the sorrowful scenes which surrounded the funeral cortege of the late chief executive of the nation here yesterday.

The services were simple. The members of Mr. Harding's official family and a few intimate friends gathered about his casket and heard the Rev. James West, a Baptist minister pray for "him whom Thou hast called from sacrificial service to rest eternal."

When the prayer was concluded, Mrs. Harding joined the Rev. West in "Amen" and said to the minister:

"It has been a great comfort to me."

As Mrs. Harding turned for another look at her husband's face before the casket was closed, other members of the party filed out of the room and left her alone for a few moments with her dead, while surging silent crowds which lined the streets below joined their requiem.

Bowed Down But Not Broken In Spirit

Mrs. Harding was bowed down, but not broken in spirit, under the load of grief which she has been burdened. She thanked the minister:

"Mr. Watson," the policeman who was on guard at the presidential suite and her parting word of comfort to San Francisco was:

"I won't break down. My thoughts will go just as fast as the train."

Mrs. Harding was the last member of the official party to leave the hotel. She came down to her automobile on the arm of Rear Admiral General Sawyer and Secretary Christian at 7 o'clock, almost 30 minutes after the casket started moving towards the station. She was spared the ordeal of watching the casket, carried by soldiers, sailors and Marines, wind its way through the hotel lobby to the stately officers' club while the navy band, outside the hotel played "The Stars and Stripes" and "Lead Kindly Light" Mr. Harding's favorite hymn.

As the Gray Gull, Covered by an American Flag, Topped with a Wreath of California Carnations was Gently Rolled to the Hearse, the Chimes of St. Patrick's Catholic Church Just a Block Distant Told "Nearer My God to Thee."

The bright array of uniforms which three branches of the military service brought to the procession was a sharp contrast to the guard of frock coated statesmen who surrounded the hearse.

Many Notables Present

Around the Montgomery street canopy of the Palace Hotel, was gathered an imposing array of statesmen whose names are household words in the nation.

GIVE CAUSES OF HARDING'S DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., August 4.—By the Associated Press.—Dr. Ray L. Wilbur and Charles M. Cooper, who were the local physicians called into consultation by Brigadier General Sawyer when President Harding's illness was first announced here, issued today a statement giving their joint conclusions of the causes which resulted in the death of Mr. Harding last night.
"We have been asked by President Harding's physicians before they leave San Francisco to put on record our impression of the President's physical condition as it affected his last illness and his sudden death."
"As already indicated in the bulletins, the heart was enlarged and probably the blood vessels which carry to it its nutriment thickened, for his history shows that previously he had unusual manifestations and that during sleep the respiratory center was insufficiently fed. Furthermore, he had suffered from nocturnal dyspnea and a cheyne-stokes type of respiration, yet, as often happens in such cases, he had full confidence in his bodily strength; his mind remained most alert, and his judgment unimpaired."
"At 4:30 p. m. yesterday, prior to his sudden apoplectic seizure, it seemed to Mrs. Harding and to us that the fight was won and that, with sufficient rest and the carrying out of a definite medical program, this illustrious man, in fair physical health and in full mental vigor, could be preserved for this, our country."

Race Horse Owner Shot At Piketon Fair Grounds

Fred Hatfield Of Ironton Probably Fatally Wounded; Gun User In Waverly Jail

Fred Hatfield, race horse owner, 37, whose home is in Ironton, and who is well known about the race tracks in this section of the state, is in Hempstead hospital in a critical condition as the result of bullet wounds suffered about 7:30 o'clock this morning at the Piketon Fair grounds. Two bullets struck Hatfield. The alleged gun-user, K. S. Smith, race horse driver of Mullens, S. C., is in the Pike county jail at Waverly, where he is held for investigation pending the outcome of the wounds suffered by Hatfield. Smith was arrested shortly after the shooting by Marshal Markham of Piketon, who later turned the prisoner over to Sheriff Anderson.

One of the two bullets which struck Hatfield entered his back on the left side, between the hip bone and ribs. It traveled more than an inch and pierced the intestines in a number of places. The bullet was not located.

Hatfield was on the operating table here for a long time while the intestines were sewed. He also suffered considerable loss of blood and this fact, with the dangerous internal condition makes his condition very critical. Very little hopes are held for his recovery. Relatives in Ironton were notified that his chances were very slim.

Cause of The Trouble

The real cause of the shooting is unknown, although Smith claims that it was the climax of a spill that Hatfield caused him to suffer in a race Friday afternoon, although they had an argument about the spill. Friends of Hatfield claim that the spill yesterday did not have anything to do with the shooting, but claim that the spill followed an argument over the division of money in a spill purse on Thursday. They claim that Hatfield demanded his money of Smith and that this caused the shooting.

In the third heat of the last race yesterday, a 2:20 pace, there was a spill, K. S. Smith driving Robert R. for Rawls Bros., of Mullens, S. C., suffering the fall. Smith's story this morning following the shooting was as follows: "I had the pole on the last turn coming towards the home stretch. Bally Comodore, owned by Elmer Hatfield and driven by Scott, was close by me and Fred Hatfield driving one of his own horses, was also near. I heard Hatfield yell at Scott to get in there and he started to cut in ahead of me to get to the pole. His horse stepped on the wheel of my bike and this caused a spill. I hit the fence but was not injured and came back and finished the race. Smith claims that Hatfield came to him after the race and accused him of trying to "pocket" his horse and made the threat that he would "get him" if not today, he would tomorrow. He says to avoid trouble with Hatfield he did not stay in the barns last night, but stayed at the village hotel, but went back to the barns about 1:30 a. m., having decided to get his things and leave. He says he did not get away as soon as he expected and about 7:30 this morning Hatfield walked up to him and demanded his share of money they were supposed to divide on a race.

Says Hatfield Hit Him

Smith says he told Hatfield he thought he had the money without seeing the treasurer of the Fair and when he put his hand in his pocket to get his money, Hatfield hit him. He exhibits a bruised place on his forehead where, he says, Hatfield struck him. Smith claims that he then drew his gun and fired in self-defense.

Hatfield's friends tell a different version of the trouble on the track yesterday and this morning. They admit Smith had the pole, but say he pulled out at the last turn and allowed Bally Comodore, driven by Scott, to take the pole, but then cut in ahead of him to "pocket" the Hatfield horse. They say that Scott saw what Smith was up to and caused his horse to dart ahead and that if Smith's bike was caught it must have been the wheels locking.

They say that as far as they know, not anything was said about the spill between the men and that this morning when Smith saw Hatfield at the track barns he called to him and asked him to come to him. Woods of Woods of Waverly, driver of horses for Col. J. W. Barger of Waverly, says he was with Hatfield and that Smith was laughing when Hatfield walked up to him. Woods claims that Hatfield did not strike Smith and that he had his back towards Smith and was walking away when Smith fired. He claims that Smith was about six feet from Hatfield when Smith fired three times. Woods and Hatfield's friends say that if Smith has a bruise on his head it was sustained in the fall yesterday.

Hatfield only took a few steps before he fell. Dr. Penn of Piketon was the first physician to see him, and when he found the bullet had entered the back he had C. M. Freeman bring him to Hempstead hospital in his ambulance. He reached the hospital at 8:40, more than an hour after the shooting. After an X-ray failed to locate the bullet, but did show the intestines punctured, Hatfield was placed on the operating table. Drs. Penn, Halderman, Bernitt, Quinn, Wilcox and Smith attended Hatfield.

Brooks Capper of Ironton, partner of Hatfield in the race game for ten years, was notified and he arrived at the hospital about 9:30. Later Elmer Hatfield and other relatives came. Hatfield formerly had a meat market in Ironton. He has owned and has been training and driving race horses in this section for a long time. He is well known at the county fairs in this section.

Sheriff Anderson obtained the gun used from Smith. It contained three empty shells and one empty chamber. Wesley Woods claimed that Smith fired three shots for the one that killed Hatfield and whistled by his head.

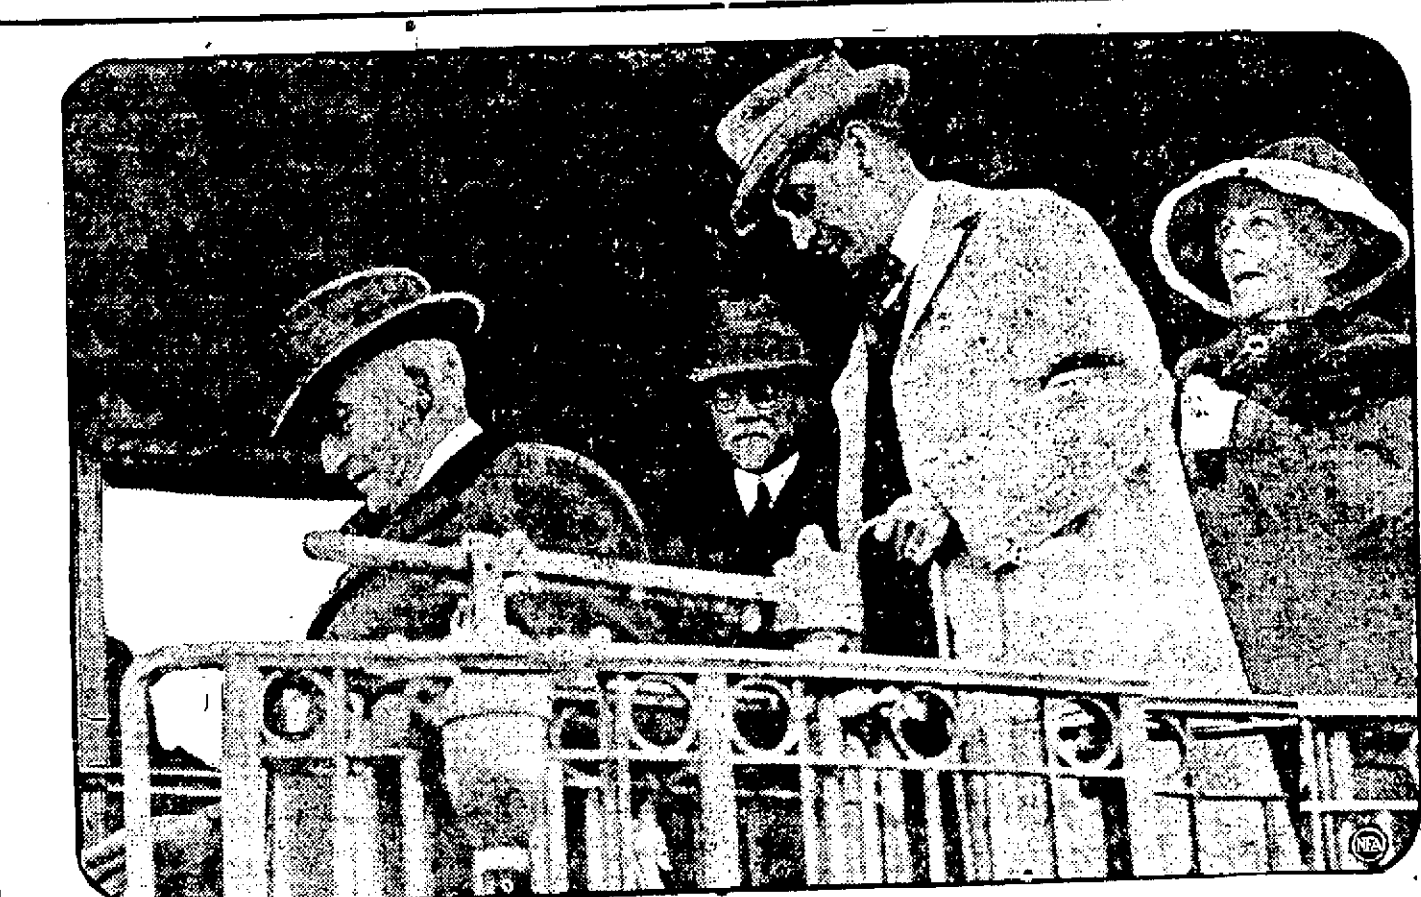

Refuse To Permit Harding Death Mask

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., August 4.—At a conference last night of cabinet officers, it was decided to request the permission of Mrs. Harding to allow a death mask to be taken of President Harding. J. Earl Cummings, a San Francisco sculptor, was selected to undertake the work. Mrs. Harding, however, declined to permit the mask to be taken.

Gets Message from Home Folks

San Francisco—Mrs. Harding receives messages from "the home folks" of Marion depicting loss of "generous hearted neighbor and friend."

THIS picture is one of the last taken of President Harding before his death. It was photographed by an NEA Service cameraman in San Francisco, just as the stricken executive was going to the Palace Hotel to go to bed. This picture was rushed east by air mail.

President Harding, Dr. Sawyer, his personal physician, Private Secretary Christian and Mrs. Harding, are shown leaving their special train at San Francisco. On his trip through Oregon and northern California, the president was too sick to greet the throngs of people congregated at every stopping place.

BOY KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

A fractured skull and internal injuries suffered by Bascom Puckett, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Puckett of Dry Run, about three miles from Ironton, when he was run down by an automobile on Galena pike near Oldtown church resulted in his death at Mercy hospital about three hours later. All efforts of physicians to prolong life were futile, the skull fracture being of such a serious nature that anything human hands could do was useless.

His brother Escom, 5, and a sister, Mazie, 13, were eye witnesses to the fatal accident. All were on their way home from the bottom land where the older children had been working in the afternoon pulling weeds from among the corn.

The lad, it is claimed, started to run after a truck and dived directly into the path of a coupe driven by L. C. Maltry of Dayton, who has been visiting A. Stacy. Mr. Stacy got out of the car and ran to the lad, who was unconscious in the road.

Putting him into the machine, they brought him to Mercy hospital for treatment. He died at the hospital at 5:30 p. m., without regaining consciousness.

The brother and sister on seeing their brother lying in the road motionless and unable to talk, ran home. The driver of the truck who looked around when he heard the coupe stop suddenly, went back to the scene of the accident. Later he stopped at the Andy Smith store at Union Mills and told Mr. Smith of the accident. From the store Mr. Puckett, the lad's father, was notified at the S. & V. freight house, where he is employed as freight handler. He was at the hospital with his son when the end came.

Mrs. Andy Smith notified August Lovey who lives near the Puckett home on Dry Run and he informed Mrs. Puckett.

In addition to his grief stricken mother and father, Bascom Puckett is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Vassa, 16, Mazie, 13, Escom, 5, Frank, four, and a girl infant.

Bascom was a pupil at the Dry Run school.

The driver of the motor car which ran the lad down was deeply grieved when he learned that the lad would not recover and expressed his regret at the unfortunate occurrence.

Coroner Fowler, who visited the scene of the accident and made an investigation said today that the skull fracture probably had caused death, although the internal injuries might have been serious enough to have caused death also. Although it was stated today that death was accidental and apparently unavoidable.

The body was removed from the Daehler morgue to the home today and funeral services will be held from the home Sunday.

Mother Finds Baby Dead

Paul Raymond Osborne, the three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Osborne, 820 John street, was found dead in his bed this morning about 1:30 by his mother.

The child had been asleep since 9:30 yesterday evening and his death was not discovered until the mother awoke and went to his bed to see how he was sleeping.

The cause of the death has been determined by Coroner

Virgil Fowler as malnutrition. Besides the parents, one brother, John, 4, and a sister, Lillian, 6, survive.

The body of the baby will be taken to Warren, Ky., the former home of the Osbornes and the last rites will be held there.

Harding Showed Effects Of Tremendous Strain

CLEVELAND, O., August 4.—(By Associated Press)—President Harding showed the effects of the tremendous strain he was under just prior to his western trip, according to Dr. John Franklin Smith, for more than fifteen years his personal dentist and close friend.

Dr. Stephan has made annual visits to the White House and treated the teeth of both Mr. and Mrs. Harding since the president's inauguration.

"The last time I treated him was just prior to the start of the western trip," Dr. Stephan said today. "At that time he showed the effects of the great strain he was under, but otherwise seemed to be in good condition."

"I had far rather be going with you on this trip than the strenuous program ahead of me," President Harding wrote to Dr. Stephan June 15 upon the occasion of the latter's going on the trial voyage of the Leviathan.

circles the Holy See was always satisfied the attitude of the Harding administration towards it.

The greatest cordiality was manifested whenever the two came into contact with each other as in the case of the relief work in Russia.

but when the necessity of doing in three days what it had been planned to accomplish in three weeks appeared, Mrs. Harding went forward for a night and day drive to bring the repairs to completion.

Today L. H. Hoover, head usher at the white house, reported the residence itself ready for its new incumbents, but the preparation for immediate transfer proved needless.

Mrs. Harding in a telegram sent late yesterday and signed by President and Mrs. Coolidge, was urged to remain under the white house roof as long as it suits her convenience.

The message expressed the hope of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge that as long as Mrs. Harding would consider it also her home.

The offer, it was said, would be of importance to the widow of the dead president because the Hardings had made the white house more of a home than some predecessors. Furniture and other furnishings which they had accumulated at Marion were brought to the official mansion months ago in quantities estimated as sufficient to fill several trucks. Some presidents body was placed on board the Harding special train which was covered with shrubbery which had been gathered from California gardens.

A shaft of sunlight broke through a cloud just before the sun set in the Golden Gate and lighted the skies just as the brilliantly lighted coach sped out of the west on the first stretch of its sorrowful journey to Washington.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., August 4.—

(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. Florence Harding, widow of the late President and Mrs. George B. Christian, Jr., as the Rev. James H. West read the prayer over her late husband's body here Friday, nodded her head slightly as the pastor raised his hand and said: "God is our refuge and strength." As the minister ended his prayer, Mrs. Harding said "Amen."

The widow stood and watched the half-hundred persons as they filed out, waiting for the room to clear in order that she might have a few minutes alone with her dead husband before the body was taken to the train for transportation to the National Capitol.

The body of the dead repose in a drab brown steel coffin, lined with white silk. The only inscription, engraved on a silver plate, was "Warren Gamaliel Harding."

Nations Send Tributes

The coffin was banked with flowers and floral tributes from citizens and Consuls General of many nations, filling the sitting room of the Presidential suite where the simple religious ceremony was conducted.

The setting sun poured through the lower portion of the windows and flooded the flower-covered wall with sunlight, which gave the room the appearance of an outdoor flower garden.

Widow and Sister Mourn

Mrs. E. E. Reamers, sister of the late President, and Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty, were the only persons in the room, who were seated during the ceremony. The Attorney-General was helped into the room by Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone, one of the late President's physicians, and was assisted from the room by Commander Boone, after the ceremony.

Mrs. Harding was last to enter the room. She was holding the arm of Secretary Christian and continued to hold his arm as she stood in the center of the room, doted in front of the glass-covered coffin.

When Rev. West concluded his Bible text and bowed his head for prayer, Mrs. Christian stepped from the side of the room and stood on Mrs. Harding's right. Both Mr. and Mrs. Christian held the widow's arms throughout the entire ceremony.

Mrs. Harding, dressed in deep mourning, with a black cape reaching to her shoe tops, was veiled. She held her gaze on the minister while he read his text, and bowed her head as he raised his hand for prayer. Her eyes were dry at the finish of the prayer and in a half-choked voice she uttered the word "Amen."

Perishing Leads Mourner Out

When the minister finished, Mrs.

Christian stepped back to her original place and Mrs. Harding, leaning on Secretary Christian's arm, walked to the front of the coffin, held her hand out to Rev. West and gazed at the face of her dead husband.

However, her gaze lasted for only a moment, and she began to talk with Rev. West. Several times she looked toward the small crowd and, after a few seconds, her wishes seemed to be instinctively fulfilled by these present.

General J. J. Pershing and General Horlon led the procession out.

Mrs. Harding stood erect and watched those passing out, with never a break in her figure or a catch in her voice as she continued to talk with the minister.

Christian Is Worried

Only once during the entire service did Secretary Christian seem worried about Mrs. Harding. As the minister uttered the words "We bless thee for his unshrinking courage, his stalwart strength, his radiant kindness and gentleness, for his self-forgetting disposition in the cause of justice, and peace for the individual, the nation and the world in propagation of which he sacrificed his life," Secretary Christian moved his arm and started to put it around Mrs. Harding's waist, but as he glanced at her face, he immediately placed his arm where she could again hold it.

Tears of Sorrow Flow

While Mrs. Harding, a pathetic figure, stood dry-eyed, tears of sorrow streamed unchecked down the cheeks of many, including Washington newspaper correspondents, among whom the late President numbered many of his closest and intimate friends. Men who make a business of reporting the disasters and sadness of the country and who, ordinarily, are concerned in regard to their work, stood unashamed as they stood and cried for one they loved.

James C. McReynolds, Justice of the United States Supreme Court; Secretary Herbert Work, Henry C. Wallace and Herbert Hoover, Mrs. Work, Mrs. Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Jennings, of Columbus, Ohio, and Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Sawyer were among the members of the Presidential party who lined the room during the religious ceremony, which started at 5:05 p. m. and finished at 5:19 p. m.

Donahey To Return Home

COBACONK, Ont., August 4.—(By Associated Press)—Governor Donahey of Ohio will return to Ohio tomorrow to attend the funeral of President Harding, he announced today after a conference with a representative of the Canadian government.

With him will return his party, including the two convicts who were acting as servants.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all who were so kind during the sickness and death of my beloved husband, Wm. Albrecht, Rev. Hughes for his comforting words; those who sent floral tributes.

MRS. EDITH ALBRECHT.

Woodmen Mourn President's Death
At a well attended meeting of the Portsmouth Camp, Modern Woodmen of America, last night, deep regret was expressed over the death of President Harding.

Although no resolutions were passed upon the death of Mr. Harding, it was the sentiment of the members that the nation had suffered an irreparable loss.

The seven candidates that were in cluded at the meeting last night are: Alva Yeoch, William Wadsworth, Perry Campbell, Arthur Campbell, Jesse Smalley and Thomas Litz. Several applications were also favorably voted upon.

At the close of the business session the members partook of a lunch of sandwiches and lemonade, followed by a smoker.

Mrs. Harding To Reside At Dr. Sawyer's Home
MARION, O., August 4.—(By Associated Press)—President Harding's widow will make her future home at the farm of Dr. C. E. Sawyer, personal physician to the late president, just outside the city, according to an announcement in today's Marion Tribune.

Adjutant General Henderson will be asked to detail company D of the 10th Cavalry to the Marion farm. The farm is one of the beautiful spots of Marion.

Millard Hunt, who occupies the Harding home under lease, offered to immediately vacate, but Mrs. Harding refused to let him do so. That is the home where the famous "front porch" campaign was held.

The old Marion Civic Association which handled things during Mr. Dr. Sawyer said.

NEITHER FATHER NOR BROTHER TO MEET THE FUNERAL TRAIN
MARION, O., Aug. 4.—Dr. George T. Harding, Jr., brother of the late president, said today that neither his father nor himself would meet the train bearing the body of Mr. Harding. Nor will they go to Washington. Last night it had been decided to proceed to the nation's capital.

Marion has not heard any of the details of the funeral, but it is known that the president's wish for simplicity will be followed. Consequently no plans are being made for group attendance of lodges, civic associations and the like.

Tomorrow every church in Marion will hold memorial services.

Workmen were engaged in frantically today to repair the street in front of the home of Dr. Harding, from which the funeral will be held. It is torn up due to improvements.

Plenty Of Sunday Tickets For Red-Giant Ball Game

There seems to be some misapprehension as to tickets for the Sunday conflict between the Reds and Gluts at Redfield. Cliff Connell, traveling passenger agent of the Norfolk & Western, pointed out today in a statement calling attention to an announcement issued by the Cincinnati club, (through) Augustus Hiermann, president, to the effect that while there are no more reserved seat tickets available for the Sabbath affray, only a limited number of grand stand seats have been reserved, leaving over 10,000 unreserved seats for grandstand and bleachers to be sold. These tickets will be on sale at noon, when the grounds will be open and everyone can and will be accommodated, Red officials declared Saturday.

 The N. & W. will run another of its popular excursions tomorrow, leaving here at 7 a. m., and from all indications the special will carry several hundred Portsmouth fans down to the Queen City to witness the big baseball event.

J., with his brother and another lad, threw stones at these two huge Great Danes, belonging to Otto Bentz, who owns Floral Park, a picnic ground, at North Bergen, N. J. With terrible swiftness the dogs bore down on Joseph and tore him to death, a hundred terror-stricken eye-witnesses being unable to drive them away. Bentz, shown here with his dogs, was arrested on a manslaughter charge, but says he will not kill his dogs unless the authorities force him to do so.

Secretary Baker's Brother Held In Rum Case

When the fashionable Tamaqua Yacht Club, of Sheepshead Bay, New York, got ready for its annual shirt waist dance, Julian D. Baker, brother of former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, thought it would be a fine and fancy idea to take his cruiser, the Modesty, out to the rum fleet and get a few cases of "likker" for his fellow club members. The Coast Guard cutter Manhattan thought otherwise and seized the craft, confiscated six cases of wet goods and arrested Baker. Since the arrest was made outside the 12-mile limit, Baker was released when he told his story, but the "likker" was seized, and he had to give a bond of $500 to get his boat back. The shirt waist dance was a remarkably dry affair.

Artificial Respiration Is Teddy's Lifesaver

By NEA Service. MADISON, WIS.—"A poor hound pup has just as much right to live as any human being," said Teddy, in dog language, a few days ago as he fawned about his rescuer, John Trainor. Teddy, it is believed, can truthfully tell his dog pals that he is the only pup known to have been saved from drowning by use of artificial respiration methods—and a few drops of whiskey. The three-month-old adorable pup was pulled from a stream, stiff and lifeless. He was flailed by the water he inhaled in the five minutes he struggled against the wet and slippery walls in an attempt to save himself. Dragging the lifeless dog into the sun pending arrival of a fire department ambulance, Trainor took him by the hind and fore paws, rolled him over a blanket to force the water from the lungs and then started artificial methods of restoring respiration. After several minutes the dog showed faint signs of life and a tablespoonful of whiskey forced down his throat aided in bringing heart action. Assisted by firemen, Trainor rubbed the dog and restored warmth to the cold and wet body. Within an hour, when the above picture was taken, the pup was up and full of pep and ready to chase all the cats in the neighborhood.

A "professional flapper" she calls herself. Margaret inherited $75,000 on the death of a friend of her family. Immediately, she betook herself to Hollywood, capital of MovieLand. Out there she got a job as a movie extra. And now she's gathering material for her book, "A Flapper's Impression of the Motion Picture Stars." Her sister flappers here in Omaha can't hardly wait until it comes out. It will reveal so many things they never knew before! At least, that's the word they received from Margaret. Already the "professional flapper" has interviewed some of the screen's most scintillating lights. No wonder all the bob-haired clientele is so excited nowadays.

Here they are.

RUTH DEMONSTRATES HIS REAL WORTH TO CLUB

Heilman And Hornsby Are The Leading Sluggers

CHICAGO, August 4. (By the Associated Press.)—Ruth, the original King of Swat, is proving to be a valuable asset to the club, the New York Yankees, this season as ever before. According to figures released today and which include games of last Wednesday, he is only two points behind Harry Heilman, the Detroit slugger who has been topping the list almost from the start of the season. The big Yankee made a net gain on the Detroit star of twenty-four points in the last week, while Heilman suffered a loss of nine points. Ruth's average dropping from .401 to .392, while Heilman's is up to .392. Ruth's 375 to 390 showed a gain of fifteen points.

In addition to this Ruth maintained his lead among the home run hitters with a total of twenty-five, two more than a week ago. Playing in seven games, he scored eight times, and he is in front as the best run getter in the league with thirty-five runs. Besides his twenty-five home runs, he has four doubles, eight triples, which give him the lead in total bases of 213.

There has been little change among the other leading hitters during the past week. Eddie Collins of Chicago, is leading the sacrifice hitters with 29 and the base stealers with 28.

Heilman is the first of the major league clubs to make more than 1,000 hits this season. Today's figures show that the Indians have cracked out from him and are leading the American League in club hitting with an average of .295. Detroit is second with .293 and New York third with .292.

Other leading hitters: Speaker, Cleveland, .291; J. Sewell, Cleveland, .287; Danis, Cleveland, .285; E. Collins, Chicago, .283; Will, New York, .283; Flanagan, Boston, .283; Burns, Boston, .282; J. Harris, Boston, .282; Williams, St. Louis, .281; McManus, St. Louis, .281; Hane, Detroit, .281; Cobb, Detroit, .281; Myatt, Cleveland, .280; Noel, Washington, .275; Vane, Detroit, .274.

Bruce Hornsby, champion hitter of the National League, has pounded his way in month from .313 to .308, according to averages released today and which include games of last Wednesday.

Jimmy Bottomley, spurred on by the hitting of his teammate, Hornsby, has been making rapid strides toward the top of the batting ladder and today is perched in third place with an average of .304. Zach Wheat, the Brooklyn National's star slugger, added one point to his average. He continues as runner-up to Hornsby with an average of .302.

Jack Miller of the Chicago Nationals appears to be the only player in the circuit who is keeping pace with Cy Williams of the Philadelphia Nationals, among the home run hitters. The elegant Phillies' outfielder is leading all long distance hitters with 27 homers, while Jack Miller is his closest rival in the National League with 14. Williams has taken the lead in total bases with 209. Besides his home runs, his hits include fifteen doubles and four triples.

Harold Traynor of Pittsburgh who was out in front a week ago has been tied by Frankie Frisch of the New York Nationals. Each has 207 total bases.

For base stealing honors Grantham, the speedy second sacker of the Chicago Nationals failed to add to his string of 27, while Max Carey, the fleet-footed Pittsburgh outfielder, swiped a brace of bases and is trailing Grantham with 23.

Other leading hitters: Traynor, Pittsburgh, .352; Frisch, New York, .353; Fournier, Brooklyn, .351; Young, New York, .352; Roush, Cincinnati, .352; Barnhart, Pittsburgh, .348; Grimm, Pittsburgh, .347; Johnston, Brooklyn, .347; Hecker, Chicago, .342; Southworth, Boston, .338; O'Farrell, Chicago, .339; Hargrove, Cincinnati, .327; McInnis, Boston, .321; Williams, Philadelphia, .321.

Lamar of Toledo is leading the American Association hitters with an average of .400, but is being hard pressed by Carl Esch of Minneapolis, and Terry, the newly appointed manager of Toledo, who are tied for the runner-up honors with .390. Combs of Louisville is fourth with .375.

Johnny Brief of Kansas City, by cracking out two homers, has run his string of circuit drives to 22, and advanced his total base mark to 247. Brief is the first runner in the league to register more than 100 runs for the season. He has crossed the plate 104 times.

Eddie Murphy, of Columbus added five more thefts to his string and now is leading the base stealers with 20. Conner of Milwaukee, added one base to his total, and has 26.

Other leading hitters:

Brief, Kansas City, .397; E. Murphy, Columbus, .396; Brown, Indianapolis, .395; G. Wright, Kansas City, .395; Good, Kansas City, .348; J. Smith, Toledo, .340; Davis, Columbus, .336; Roth, Kansas City, .335; Christenberry, Indianapolis, .335; Blair, Kansas City, .335; Haas, St. Paul, .331.

Bentley Going Good Now After A Very Bad Start

NEW YORK, August 4.—Jack Bentley, who costs the New York Giants $55,000 and who was hailed in the spring as an exploded phenom, a high-priced lemon, is living down the stigma of a bad start.

Because of salary differences Bentley was late in reporting to the Giants. He was many pounds overweight when he joined McGraw's club and needed more than the four weeks given him to get into shape. As a result of poor condition Bentley's first three or four starts in the National League were sad affairs. It really seemed as if McGraw had been bunked. Critics were ready to place Bentley in the also ran class.

Just when a majority of the experts were weakening on him, Bentley began to show the form that made him the town hero in Baltimore. His pitching record shows that in the first 14 games worked he turned in nine victories.

Bentley has not confused his activities to pitching, he has been a whale at the bat. Used as a pinch hitter when not pitching he is slugging the ball well over the .400 mark. It's beginning to look as if McGraw didn't get stung after all.

Puzzling Plays

By Billy Evans

THE PLAY

What are the rights of the coacher at third base? If a batter should hit a ball over the fence, and the coacher patted him on the back as he rounded third, how would the umpire rule?

If a batter hit a ball to the outfield and makes three bases on it, beating the throw to get him at that base, and while he was scrambling on the base, with the fielder standing close by with the ball in his possession, the coacher left the lines of his position and started to assist in brushing off the uniform of the player, what should the umpire do?

THE INTERPRETATION

The rule relating to the coacher at third touching a runner was made with the intent to cover play in which coacher physically assists a runner in returning to or leaving third base. There was no desire to have it in effect where no play was made.

In the first play cited, where the batter hit over the fence, the umpire should have paid no attention to the act of the coacher in patting the player on the back as he rounded third. His actions had no bearing on the play.

In the second case, the umpire should have paid no attention to the coacher brushing off the uniform of the player standing on third while the fielder stood nearby with the ball. There was no chance of a play, and the actions of the coacher should not have been noticed.

Four Livestock Is Cutting Down Profits of Soloto County Farmers

One of the outstanding points brought out in Farm Management meetings in various parts of the county during the past week was:

First.—That a large proportion of the livestock of the county are boarders and do not pay for their feed.

Second.—That the average farms of the county are not maintaining the nitrogen supply of the soil and are, therefore, going down in fertility.

This fact was brought out from a study of the farm business of about thirty farms in the county, complete records having been kept on these farms for the past five years in connection with the farm bureau and the State University.

Average for the five year period show that the livestock on these farms, which may be assumed to be at least as good and probably above the average of the county, have in products returned only one dollar and ten cents for each dollar's worth of feed beside the manure produced with which to pay for the labor in the stock and in buildings for their housing.

This is a serious situation—all the more serious because the great majority of the farms of the county cannot be maintained as far as fertility is concerned without livestock. The records of a number of the farms show conclusively that profit in livestock in Soloto County is possible if right methods are followed.

Five farms on which the stock have consistently shown good production have given a return of one dollar and fifty cents for every dollar of feed fed them.

The average dairy cow on these farms produced $79.00 worth of cream or butter during 1922, which means an average production of about 4500 pounds of milk. As compared to this there were five farms on which the cows produced over $100 worth of cream or about 6500 pounds of milk. They were many farms on which the total production of cream per cow amounted to less than $50 or much less than the cost of feeding the cows, to say nothing about labor costs.

With the popularity we have the same story, the flock among the thirty farms produced eleven dozen eggs per hen while there were five farms on which the production was less than 4-1/2 dozen per hen.

SUCCESSFUL—profitable farming the records show does not depend so much upon the location or the native productiveness of the farm as it does upon the ability of the farmer to manage the business economically and in business like manner. It is attention to the little things about the farm that turns what would be a loss on one farm into a real profit on another. Carefully kept farm records will uncover many of these leaks which if remedied will aid in putting the balance in Soloto county farming on the right side of the ledger.

One-Fifth On Land May Feed America

Farming people may during the next hundred years shrink from about a half to one-fifth of America's population, but this, in the opinion of Dean Alfred Vialon of the college of agriculture at the Ohio State University carries no threat of famine. Increasing efficiency among American farmers has more than offset a decreasing proportion to the total population in the past and this process will continue.

So he told 125 teachers of agriculture in Ohio high schools assembled this week at the university for their annual conference, and he urged these teachers to consider the farmer and his family more as "foundations of a Democracy" and less exclusively as "producers of the national food supply."

The dean quoted figures continually raised in criticism of the American farmer that he produces only 14 bushels of wheat to the acre while Belgian peasants get an average of 34 bushels. "The answer is that a Belgian peasant handles 3 acres of land, and the American farmer operates an average of 27 acres. Europe gets more to the acre; America more to the man."

"If our democracy is to succeed, we must build on the basis of the man, not the acre. We can learn nothing about this from Europe or from any other country where the people who till the land are peasants. Ours must be a new agriculture, with a new type of farmer, efficient, inteelligent, prosperous, virile, self-reliant, and with a real voice and sway in the affairs of the nation."

Find Ohio Wheat Heavy This Year

The superiority which northern Ohio wheat showed last year over wheat grown in southern Ohio, could not be apparent this year, according to crops specialists at the Ohio State University. Inspectors' samples of threshed grain submitted by farmers from all parts of the state for certification as seed.

Ohio wheat in general is of better weight and quality than in the year immediately preceding, they add. Few specimens of threshed grain are being turned down because of low weight to the bushel. The malt causes for rejection are cockle and cheat in the grain.

Some samples, from both northern and southern counties, are running 61 pounds to the bushel, the highest in years. The average is 58 pounds, and few are falling below 55 pounds. The average weight of a bushel of wheat in Ohio is 60 pounds. Last year, a good deal of southern Ohio's crop ran around 58 pounds to the bushel.

This was thought to be due mainly to wheat scab. There was little scab in any part of the state this year, and no apparent discrepancy between the quality of northern and southern grown wheat.

Of the 50 samples of threshed grain submitted for inspection of seed, two-thirds passed. It is announced. Samples from about 30 farms where wheat passed field inspection are to be thus examined and it is estimated that about 200 farms will have certified wheat for sale at the end of the inspection process. Crops men at the college think this will be enough certified seed wheat to supply the state's needs.

THE CRIME OF THE LAW

MORE than a thousand persons have signed petitions for the pardon of Mrs. Hazel Knechtly, who is confined in the Marysville reformatory.

This does credit to their hearts, but we wonder if they are thinking of the full significance of their action, a protest against the iniquitous operation of the law.

Mrs. Knechtly is not a vicious malefactor, she has done nothing to the wrong or injury of property or human. On the contrary in keeping with her own gentle nature and the natural sympathy of her sex, she has sought only to minister to the benefaction of sufferers, and with success, in instances, none will have the hardihood to deny.

Yet, the law declares her a criminal and treats her as a felon because she is a woman.

As all know, she and other chiropractors of this city, have been twice convicted without intervention of jury of illegally practicing as physicians without license. The statutes fix no standard for chiropractors, so no matter how skilled one may be in that art, he can not essay to apply it unless he pass an examination on requirements fixed by the state medical board.

However that is not the glaringly outrageous point of the Knechtly case, it is that she is the special victim of the law because of her sex.

It appears that some fool legislator wrote into the statute that where a female was convicted the second time for a similar offense, she should not be confined to the county jail, but sent to a woman's reformatory, a soft name for penitentiary. Why the female and not also the male the statute saith not.

So it comes that Hazel Knechtly becomes the victim of the law's evil distinction. And so the law itself becomes a criminal. For does not the constitution decree that all mortals are equal before the law, that no person shall be deprived of property, liberty or life without due process of law, that fundamental right of trial by jury shall not be bridged nor denied, that cruel and unusual punishment shall not be inflicted?

All these guarantees are denied, cruel and unusual punishment is inflicted when one of the most sensitive of the sexes has inflicted upon her a sentence that is harsher and more ignominious than that imposed upon males, who have committed an act identical.

Senator Walsh demands an extra session of congress. If he wants to hear himself talk so badly as all that, let him go down to the seashore and give back talk to the waves.

Latvia has come into the league of nations and Ireland is coming in as soon as the necessary preliminaries can be arranged. Soon America will sit solitary and alone in her "splendid isolation."

The lowly Quakers took two in a row from the roaring Reds. It is ever the unexpected occurring in base ball.

Kentucky's greatest industry will shut down, temporarily, this day. The Democratic primary will be held and a lull in politics come for a time.

It is a poor United States senator that can't go to Europe to study conditions at first hands and then come back home to report them found just exactly as he wanted them to be.

Magnus Johnson says he can make 'em hear him when he gets to be senator. May be, may be so, plow boy, but making 'em heed is different.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, August 4—There is a group of middle aged rounders who breakfast at eight o'clock in the evening in a club on Forty-Sixth Street. They have been doing this for several years in order to keep the night fires burning.
Their bed time hour is nine o'clock in the morning. The day—or rather night—is an unending gallop along the white hot pleasure trail. All are men unused to toll—remittance men whose fathers built up fortunes for prodigates to waste.
The leader is a bald, puffed hero of four marriages, and a hundred amours. They travel from "cave to cave" with their pickled peaches. Ring-side tables provide a tangle. Their laugh is boisterous and conversation noisy.

They are the type of revelers who find it amusing to hold cigarette fires and waiters up to ridicle and then give them a big check. They are well oiled by midnight and snap into their dance—lumbering about awkwardly with tipsy young girls.
The companions are the fresh looking young sun doggers who have not yet suffered the incalculable stamp of hard living. Broadway is obnoxious to these sort of wastrels for it is because of them the flashy Broadway is able to thrive.
There is an calloused old rake who carries his own doctor with him. Several times he has suddenly flopped to the floor with a heart attack and he is taking no more chances of waking up in an ante-room unattended.
They have their camp followers—improvident pickpockets who laugh at feeble jests and look the other way when the check arrives. Each of the gay old dogs thinks he is cutting a swath as a devil of a fellow. Great people—the Chinese!

It is quite difficult to gaze at Broadway's nightly aurora borealis and realize it was just 25 years ago the first electric sign stood on the Broadway heavens. It was placed at Twenty-Third Street and Broadway and its letters read: "Manhattan Beach—Swept by Ocean Breezes." The next big sign was the Roman chariot race that was on top of the Hotel Normandie near Forty-Second Street.

This is a story of a cafe parrot told to me by a theatrical producer who was present. The cafe was on Tenth Avenue fifteen years ago. Suspended from the ceiling was the parrot's pedestal. It was a huge bird that had been brought from Africa. It had never talked. One night there was a rumormongers in the cafe. The proprietor left his cashier cage to quiet the belligerents. While he was in the scuffle the parrot screamed "Look out!" The proprietor ducked as a water crane went whizzing by. Had it not been for the warning his head would have been dashed in. The parrot never spoke again.

There is a parrot shop on lower Fifth Avenue that has a parrot said to be 62 years old. It is not for sale. It is one of the most remarkable birds I have ever seen. One day the owner of the shop said to it while I think about the weather." The sun was shining. "Rain in a half hour," screeched the parrot and in a half hour a sudden shower sprang up. There is a dog in the shop that obeys the parrot when told to sit up, lie down and roll over.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM CASTLES

BY BERTON BRALEY

THE castles of marble or granite stand fast
For ages, but finally crumble.
The wind and the weather destroy them at last
And over their ruins we stumble.
Though high be the battlements,
Thick be the wall,
Though lofty their chambers and splendid,
Yet sooner or later they topple and fall.
And all of their splendor is ended.

Oh, men must build castles of iron and stone
To house their material glories.
Strong castles whose beauty and wonder are known
And told in the bravest of stories:
Yet these, too, shall pass as the centuries beat
Against their great bastions and towers.
And they shall be dust 'neath human-ity's feet
In ages far distant from ours.

THE castles of granite and steel fade away,
But ever more brilliantly gleaming
Our dream castles stand with their parapets gay
And all of their bannerets streaming.
No foe can destroy them, time storms them in vain,
They glow with enchantment supernatural.
The castles of stone turn to dust of the plain,
But Castles in Air are eternal.
